

Figure 2. Distribution of chromosomal translocations in distinct chromatin domains. The whole genome was divided into silent, non-silent and intergenic regions according to gene expression data from GDC Xena Hub. Translocation number in each region was analyzed and normalized by region size and total sample number. There are always less translocation in intergenic regions than gene-coding regions except SARC.